A SMALL BITE TO EAT BEFORE THE MAIN COURSE

THE iYIELD TEAM

Our team consists of 10+ members, our developers are professional full stack developers who own a registered blockchain and cryptocurrency company. Their customers are some of the most main stream known projects in the industry. Also on our team a well rounded group of financial experts and market analysts that would make even Warren Buffet jealous. Our marketing team well I think you can tell about them already. With us all wrapped under one of the largest venture capitalists checkbook. We are guaranteed to provide together a truly remarkable product for every user who interacts with our platform. Our top priority is the safety and security of our users, followed by long lasting and stable yields.

THE yB TOKEN

The yB token which is a deflationary token. Its inner base functions can be compared to those of the CORE token, but it is not CORE or a fork. We view the new markets created with LP tokens as a way to enhance passive income and the locking of liquidity as solving the problems of past liquidity issues. Our yB token will allow for staking in our ecosystem, in conjunction as registration to an individual account proprietary to the user. The yB token when staked will produce monetary rewards of our associated token yCash on open markets backed by our liquidity pools chosen from our data driven research. Further the liquidity provided for the yB token will be locked inside the pool of choice permanently forcing arbitrageur only solutions for market selling through the UNI-V LP token only. In addition the UNI-V LP token will act as a form of passive income from the yB liquidity pools. There is only one way to earn more yB and that is to stake the UNI-V LP. The yB tokens coding applies a MDI (Market Directional Index) to create positive market price direction and to actually reduce negative MDI and sell pressure not just pretend to like current tokens. An Autonomous penalty percentage, driven via a algorithm based formula from the size of the swap, sale, or transfers volume will be applied to all on non white-listed addresses selling the asset. This penalty is then used in conjunction with another autonomous algorithm to buy back and burn the yB token if various conditions are met. Thus creating the ultimate in buying pressure ever created.

THE yCASH TOKEN

The yCASH also a deflationary token but from a much higher supply will share similar characteristics of the yB token and its ILL liquidity type. It will be a open market sold token and rewards token for the staking of yB tokens, yCASH tokens and its LP tokens. The yCASH token also has propriety MDI coding capabilities to resist sell pressure as well as our own propriety coded methods to further boost the buy back mechanism and reduce selling pressure. The yCASH token will be the rewards token and additional buying pressure support of its native yB token. For every yCASH token purchased a purchase is additionally made of the yB token from The Support Fund taken from each yCASH sale of .007%

USER INTERFACE

Our user interface is hands down the best in DeFi. How do we know? We've seen the others and had a private panel sample our interface and rate it between some of the top names in the space and received a 5.0* from all 15 surveyed in comparison to competitors*. The group was not compensated for their opinions. We believed that the current interfaces and platforms were very daunting to the average cryptocurrency user and has kept them out of the DeFi products that are helping so many users. We have made it our mission to simplify the use of our platform and to professionally develop it to truly make the experience enjoyable and easier on the users eyes.

CONCLUSION

Our full 10 page whitepaper will be available soon for viewing, this current version is not our full scope and we have many additions to tell you about. Please also be aware the yB token although our first token and required token for our platform, we will be releasing a full suite of products to the Yield Bank platform. We wanted to release a summary whitepaper for to give our investors a brief synopsis of us. We want to thank the 4,000 plus users who have come out to support us in only 72 hours into our initial launch.
